Camp Director

Andrew "AJ" Madero has been the PASA Technical Director since July 2010.

AJ graduated from Liberty University in 2010 with a BS in General Studies with a specialization in Exercise Science and Psychology. He has an impressive record as an NCAA Division I goalkeeper. At Liberty University, he led the Big South in Goals Against Average, Save Percentages, Shutouts, & Shutout Percentages. His final NCAA Division I GAA ranking was #4 in the nation. As a senior, his season high was eight saves against UVA, the current National Champion, and he went 11 games undefeated, the second longest in Liberty University history. He also gained international playing experience when LU won the National Tournament in Cyprus against men's professional teams. AJ has trained with Bryheem Hancock, a former MLS Goalkeeper & the University of South Florida goalkeeping coach, and he spent the past summer traveling and delivering training as a "No. 1 Soccer Camp" and LU soccer camp instructor. He is also the co-director of the FirstSave Goalkeeper Academy.
